Dear CPFJ Friends,

As of October 1st, I will have retired from my position as executive director of CPFJ. It has been my pleasure to serve with the help of our Board, our many volunteers, and my fellow musicians – gracious thanks to you all.

Special thanks to Sheila Ross for her diligence and excellence as our office manager for the last six years. I would not have survived this long without her help. Thanks to my friend Tim Warfield, Jr. for his gifts in acquiring phenomenal artists for our audience. Under his leadership, there has been a wealth of amazing music on our various stages. And finally, thanks to Andy Herring for being highly capable and available to take over as executive director. I believe Andy has the talent and the expertise to keep the Friends of Jazz on track in the coming years.

Speaking of years – 2020 is the 40th anniversary of CPFJ. I hope all of you will come out to our concerts to celebrate this achievement throughout the year and keep donating to support all of our valuable programs. As one of the four founders of CPFJ, I have invested a large portion of my time in Harrisburg serving the Friends of Jazz and I am always amazed that we have thrived for four decades.

I will be around and will continue to support the club, but I will be focusing on my family, my musical career (teaching, playing and composing) and finding ways to enjoy this time of my life. I have many projects in mind and will keep you informed when they come to fruition. Thanks to all of you for caring about the music and for being sincere friends and supporters of this great art form. Love to you all!

All the best in jazz,

Steve Rudolph, CPFJ Co-founder & Retiring Executive Director

Dear Friends of Jazz,

Even greater than our organization's 40th anniversary is the fact that jazz has been embedded in the fabric of American culture for over a century. And yet, as an organization committed to the teaching, presentation, and preservation of jazz, we have no doubts that people will continue engaging with this music for decades to come. Why are we so optimistic?

A descendent of the blues and other distinctly African-American musical traditions, jazz grew out of strength in the face of adversity – a message the world will always need. Though these roots of jazz will always prevail, jazz has never been singular in its direction. There are as many ways to carry on jazz tradition as there are musicians playing it. And as many unique voices as there are contributing to jazz, there will be unique ears to listen.

So much more could be written about the bright future of jazz. But for now, you might like to know a little bit about each of us:

Andy: I was introduced to CPFJ through the Central Dauphin HS Jazz Ensemble. We opened a CPFJ concert in 2012 and performed for ArtsFest in 2014. When I needed an internship for my graduate work in arts management, I approached Steve about working with CPFJ. I was attracted to the organization for its purpose of unifying listeners, venues, supporters, and musicians - exactly what I want to do!

Joe: I learned of CPFJ when I won tickets to the Dauphin County Jazz & Wine Festival several years ago. From there, a good friend brought me to other CPFJ concerts, where I started getting to know Steve Rudolph. Soon after, I started volunteering as a photographer - something I do to this day. After spending a number of years outside of Central PA, I recently moved back and eagerly joined the board of directors.

We look forward to continuing to grow this community dedicated to celebrating jazz!

Joe Mulvey, Board President

Andy Herring, Executive Director

Lucy Yeghiazaryan

with Tardo Hammer (piano) and Paul Sikivie (bass)

“Lucy Yeghiazaryan is one of the most impressive jazz singers I've heard in a long time. Lucy's got what Louis Armstrong would call extra ingredients: A rich and expressive voice, a supple sense of swing, and a commanding stage presence”

– Tom Reney, New England Public Radio jazz DJ & writer

“Lucy Yeghiazaryan has a refreshing look at the new sound of this music, steeped deeply in its history. What a beautiful future she represents for this music.”

– Steve Williams, drummer for Shirley Horn for 25+ years

As a young immigrant who has brought the real richness of her heritage together with her love for what is truly American, Lucy beautifully sounds out the best expression of the American dream. Amid the cacophony of voices raging over immigration, this jazz vocalist sounds a very refreshing note. Since arriving from Armenia sixteen years ago at age 12, Lucy has enriched American jazz with a voice that is clear and strong, and with the release of her debut album Blue Heaven (Cellar Live Records 2019) critics and musicians agree that a new vocal force has arrived on the scene.

Lucy grew up in post-Soviet Armenia, discovering her father's once-contraband collection of jazz records at age 7. The collection of jazz standards so captivated young Lucy that, years before she ever learned to speak English, she began singing the tunes by meticulously mimicking the sounds and styles of the likes of Ella Fitzgerald and Sarah Vaughan.

Soon after Armenia's economic collapse in 2000, Lucy's parents brought her and her three sisters to America. After college, Lucy moved to NYC to pursue a career as a singer, and was a finalist in the 2015 International Monk Jazz Competition.

Geoffrey Keezer Trio

feat. Gillian Margot (voice)

With his highly regarded discography, unique compositions, and acclaimed performances in a variety of configurations, multiple GRAMMY®-nominated pianist Geoffrey Keezer commands the attention typically reserved for the living legends of jazz. A native of Eau Claire, Wisconsin, Keezer held down the piano chair for Art Blakey at age 18, and toured in the company of Ray Brown, Joshua Redman, Diana Krall, Art Famer, Benny Golson and Barbara Hendricks in his 20s. More recently he has toured with Wayne Shorter, Dianne Reeves, David Sanborn, Chris Botti, Sting, Joe Locke and Christian McBride. Geoffrey's 2013 solo piano release, Heart of the Piano (Motema Records), redefined solo jazz piano as a personal and interactive showcase of melody, energy and groove, while his latest album On My Way to You (MarKeez Records 2018) is a stunning new set of music featuring his working trio with the addition of guest vocalist Gillian Margot.

Geoffrey's compositions have been commissioned by the Mainly Mozart Festival, Art of Elán ensemble, Saint Joseph Ballet, Zeltsman Marimba Festival, Carnegie Hall Jazz Orchestra and Scottish National Jazz Orchestra. His music can be heard in the films What Happens in Vegas and Inhale, and in numerous TV shows including The Young and the Restless (CBS), Parks and Recreation (NBC), House of Lies (Showtime), and Casual (Hulu Original).

"Mr. Keezer is the kind of straight-ahead piano player you wish for: multifaceted, responsive, constantly sifting through colors and shapes, bursting with a personal and sincere enthusiasm." - The New York Times

"Geoffrey has proved himself to be not only a superb technician and improviser, but also... a composer and conceptualist who can maintain the overall line and the DNA of the song in everything he plays. A musician's musician."

Youth Band Spotlight

Get to know our CPFJ Youth Band with a monthly feature on one student musician.

Justin Bowden

Multi-instrumentalist: drums, bass, trumpet

What is your favorite memory of performing with the Youth Band?

My favorite memory of the youth band was the first time I played at Indian Echo Caverns for the Jazz Picnic. I was about 10 years old and it was great to play with some older students.

What do you enjoy about being a multi-instrumentalist?

I believe it is really good to understand the perspective of other instrumentalists so that you learn how to play with people better. Everyone in the band needs to be connected musically. I think it makes you a better artist if you understand how other musicians think.

What makes jazz music special to you?

I like jazz music because it gives you freedom. With jazz, people of all ages, races, and skill levels can play together and it sounds good. I think it's the coolest thing that jazz musicians who don't even know each other very well can come together and produce great concerts.

If you could jam with any jazz musician, who would it be and why?

I would love to jam with Mike Stern. He plays with a fusion-like vibe that I really enjoy listening to.

Our annual Ron Waters Scholarship Party is right around the corner...well, almost!

Save the date for Sunday, December 29, 6-9 pm. We will return this year to Harrisburg Comedy Zone at Boomerang Bar & Grill for great music, food, drinks, and a silent auction.

We invite all musicians, young and not so young, to sit in with our house band and jam the night away. All of Ron's present and former Youth Band members are especially encouraged to join us.

The Scholarship Party has become our "Homecoming" over the years. If you plan to be in the area over the holidays, we hope to see you.

All proceeds support our annual Jazz Camp (p. 11) and the Ron Waters Scholarship, awarded annually to a graduating member of our Youth Band.

Tickets are $15 for adults and $5 for students, available at friendsofjazz.org or 717-540-1010.

PS. If you would like to work with us on the event committee or if you have an item to donate to our Silent Action, please call Sheila Ross at 717-540-1010.

Our favorite moments from the Dauphin County Jazz & Wine Festival...

Ed Cherry, Mark Whitfield, Pat Bianchi & Byron Landham of New York Guitar Summit played an energetic show!

Alphonso Horne and the Gotham Kings danced on stage and paraded through the crowd.

Thanks to Dauphin County Commissioners
Jeff Haste, Mike Pries, and George P. Hartwick, III
for your support of the Jazz & Wine Festival!

TIME ON YOUR HANDS?

As a small non-profit, Central PA Friends of Jazz always has projects waiting for our attention. Perhaps you have some free time that you might want to spend with us. Here are some of the ways you can make a difference...

HISTORIAN – Sift through our cache of books, scrapbooks, and other assorted paperwork to make these materials accessible to our members and the public. Especially important as we approach our 40th anniversary!

MUSIC LIBRARIAN – Over the years, many donors have kindly gifted us CDs and vinyl. Their generosity has started to overwhelm us! We need an individual who doesn't mind a little dust and can do some lifting. All we need is for someone to organize and alphabetize so that we (and others) can keep tabs on what we have. Ongoing...come in to tidy up from time to time.

SALESPERSON – We know that these albums could be sold to raise money for CPFJ, but we need someone to research value, photograph and decide the best way to sell these items. Ongoing...this is going to take some time, but we're not in a big hurry!

We treat our volunteers very well and always welcome new faces in the office. If any of these positions appeal to you, just give us a call at 717-540-1010.

CENTRAL PA FRIENDS OF JAM SESSIONS

First Sundays - October 6, November 3

Mount Gretna Craft Brewery

5:30 - 7:30 pm

2701 Horseshoe Pike, Palmyra, PA

Second Saturdays - October 12, November 9

Holy Hound Taproom

1 - 4 pm

57 West Market Street, York, PA

These jam sessions encourage musicians young and young-at-heart to improve their improvisational abilities, play with a professional rhythm section, and develop a network of musical friends. Jazz instrumentalists and vocalists of all levels and ages are encouraged to sit in.

Jam sessions are also great fun for listeners. You'll love getting to witness in-the-moment interactions between musicians!

Food and drink are available in all venues during jam sessions. No cover charge.

The 2019 Central Pennsylvania Jazz Camp served a record 106 student musicians!

THANK YOU to the following individuals and organizations for your gracious support:

The Olewine Family Trust, the Hall Foundation, the Kline Foundation, the Stabler Foundation, G. David Smith, PhD; Rosemarry Barrett, Truman & Beth Bullard, and Stephen Todd & Pamela Kiely (in honor of Wilma Soliday & John Thomas) for providing underwriting & scholarships.

Dr. William Stowman, Kelly Athey, and the Messiah College Department of Music for your partnership in producing the Central Pennsylvania Jazz Camp.

The parents of our student musicians for supporting your students' musical education.

Save the date... next year's camp is June 10-13, 2020 at Messiah College!

National Arts Marketing Project

Thanks to a generous scholarship provided by Pennsylvania Council on the Arts and Americans for the Arts, we proud to announce that executive director Andy Herring will represent Central Pennsylvania Friends of Jazz at the National Arts Marketing Project Conference in Miami on November 15-18.

The National Arts Marketing Project Conference is an annual gathering of hundreds of arts marketers representing communities all across the nation. With a focus on relevant and actionable ideas, the Conference is designed to give arts marketers the tools they need to start making a difference in their communities right away.
